Protect yourself and others

- Avoid situations that put you in close contact with others. Keep your physical distance to no less than two metres.
- Wash your hands regularly but especially after touching items in public settings.
- Avoid touching your face.
- Cover your mouth and nose with your arm when coughing and sneezing.

The BC Centre for Disease Control states: “Current information suggests that older people with chronic health conditions such as diabetes, heart disease and lung disease are at higher risk of developing more severe illness or complications from COVID-19. If you are at higher risk for COVID-19 complications, follow general preventative strategies against infection, and should you become ill, seek medical help early.”

Physical Distancing

We encourage social behaviour by phone, text, message and video chat – or just from a safe distance.

This means making changes in your everyday routines to minimize close contact with others, including:

- avoiding non-essential gatherings
- avoiding common greetings, such as handshakes
- avoiding crowded places such as concerts, arenas, conferences and festivals
- limiting contact with people at higher risk like older adults and those in poor health
- keeping a distance of at least 2 arms-length (approximately 2 metres) from others

When to self-isolate

Self-isolate if you:

- have no symptoms and
- may have been exposed to COVID-19 as a result of:
 - travelling outside of Canada within the last 14 days or
 - coming in close contact with someone diagnosed with COVID-19
- have been asked to do so by your Public Health Authority

Self-isolation means to:

- stay at home
- monitor yourself for symptoms, even if mild, for 14 days
- avoid contact with others

If you develop symptoms, even if mild, stay home, avoid other people and contact your Public Health Authority as soon as possible.
